

'Christian Science Monitor' Shifts Focus To Web

Fresh Air from WHYY, January 12, 2009 · John Yemma, the editor of The Christian Science Monitor, discusses the paper's new publication model: The Monitor is moving the daily operation to the Web and converting its print paper to a weekly.

Yemma joined the Monitor in June 2008 after more than 20 years at the The Boston Globe.

<http://www.npr.org/templates/story/story.php?storyId=99239994>

Leonard Downie Jr, executive editor of Washington Post Former 'Post' Editor Details The 'Rules Of The Game' Fresh Air from WHYY, January 12, 2009 · After 44 years as a newspaperman, former Washington Post executive editor Leonard Downie Jr. is making his debut as a fiction writer. Downie joined the Post as a summer intern in 1964 and retired in September 2008 after serving 17 years as the paper's executive editor. In his last year as editor, the paper won six Pulitzer Prizes for work done in 2007 — the most it had ever earned in one year.

<http://www.npr.org/templates/story/story.php?storyId=99173374>